Classical charm

SCHUMANN'S SECOND SYMPHONY WITH SIMONE YOUNG

Chief Conductor Simone Young presents warm, gleaming works by Robert Schumann and Peggy Glanville-Hicks.

One of Australia's most prominent composers, Peggy Glanville-Hicks' Three Gymnopédies are jewels, revealing endless character in just a short space of time. Glanville-Hicks was also fascinated by Greek culture, and you can almost hear the azure waves of the Mediterranean lapping in these wonderful works.

Written a century earlier, Robert Schumann's Second Symphony continues the symphonic traditions created by Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven. Its shimmering melodies beam with joy and unbridled enthusiasm in a wonderfully delicate reminder of music's restorative power.

With Simone Young's great passion for these two composers, these works combine for performances of delightful exuberance and brilliance.

Everyone will be swept off their feet.

Víkingur Ólafsson performs Ravel

BEETHOVEN'S THIRD SYMPHONY

With his Third Symphony, Beethoven reimagined the possibilities of the symphony. Breaking boundaries with size, scale and emotional content, Beethoven shot the music world into a new century with this, his 'Heroic' symphony. Beginning with two giant chords that open to a landscape of thrilling power, the symphony builds to final movements that are bright, bold and triumphant.

With these concerts, Icelandic phenomenon Víkingur Ólafsson makes his Australian concerto debut. Ólafsson's exquisite performances have captivated audiences and inspired legions of new classical fans: 'whatever he plays, Ólafsson treats the music with equal distinction: articulation wonderfully fleet and clean; the phrasing flexible, always alive; the range of touch in his fingers stretching into infinity,' wrote The Times (London). Here he brings a contemporary touch to Ravel's Piano Concerto, an ideal challenge for a soloist of such virtuosity.

Principal Guest Conductor Sir Donald Runnicles, renowned for creating experiences of great expressive power and distinction, leads these performances.

A spellbinding concert of words and music

A MUSICAL TEMPEST WITH JOHN BELL

Shakespeare's plays have inspired composers for centuries, and none more so than The Tempest. A raging storm, a shipwreck, a usurping duke and an enchanted fairy: it has been fertile soil for composers including Purcell, Sibelius and Tchaikovsky.

Conductor Umberto Clerici has curated this special performance with music by these great composers, presented alongside excerpts from Shakespeare's play performed by one of Australia's greatest-ever actors, John Bell.

Just as Prospero cast his spells on the inhabitants of his desert island, so too will John Bell and the Sydney Symphony enchant the Sydney Opera House Concert Hall in this very special presentation.

Intoxicating melodies

TCHAIKOVSKY'S
FIFTH SYMPHONY

Indulge in the intoxicating richness of Russian Romanticism with these performances of Tchaikovsky's Symphony No.5, with its passionate melodies and beautiful orchestration.

Guest conductor Han-Na Chang has a long and deep relationship with Tchaikovsky's music, both as an acclaimed cellist and now as conductor. She brings her unforgettable interpretations to the great Russian's glorious romance.

Sydneysiders have always flocked to Uzbek pianist Behzod Abduraimov, and his virtuosity will be on full display in Prokofiev's Second Piano Concerto – a work of bubbling, cascading vitality that's one of the most fiendishly difficult piano concertos. Described by The Independent as 'the most perfectly accomplished pianist of his generation', here's an opportunity to witness his tremendous skill as he demonstrates his mastery of this incendiary work. A show stopper.

A friendship forged in music

WHEN GEORGE MET ARNOLD

When George Gershwin moved from New York to a new house in Hollywood in 1936, he discovered that the legendary Viennese composer Arnold Schoenberg lived around the corner. These two geniuses of the 20th century struck up an unlikely friendship, playing tennis together every week, discussing music, art, love and the political situation in Europe.

When George Met Arnold is a unique event which combines a newly created film with live performance of selected works by both composers to tell the story of this remarkable relationship. The Sydney Symphony is joined by co-creators pianist Simon Tedeschi and conductor Roger Benedict.

This year is the 150th anniversary of Schoenberg's birth and also the 100th anniversary of the premiere of Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue – the perfect moment to present this poignant story of memory, trauma, friendship, humour and hope, and above all the power of music.

Featuring works by GERSHWIN and SCHOENBERG, including excerpts from Gershwin's Piano Concerto in F and Porgy & Bess, and Schoenberg's Piano Concerto, Pelléas and Mélisande and Five Pieces for Orchestra.

Kaleidoscopic colours

JOYCE YANG
IN RECITAL

Joyce Yang's performances have been praised as 'extraordinary' and 'kaleidoscopic' (Los Angeles Times), and for this solo recital the Grammy-nominated pianist has selected an evocative and thrilling program that demonstrates the full range of her virtuosity and 'wondrous sense of colour' (San Francisco Classical Voice).

Experience Tchaikovsky's The Seasons, a rare jewel evoking the many moods of the natural world – from sitting by the fireside in winter to spring's joyous bloom. Joyce Yang has also picked three Rachmaninov preludes that are among the most technically demanding, full of dramatic, powerful chords, rich textures and expansive feelings.

Stravinsky's Firebird draws on Russian folklore and cemented the composer's standing as one of his era's most exciting and imaginative composers.

Mussorgsky's Pictures at an Exhibition is a stirring finale. While inspired by actual artworks, this music occupies a far grander canvas. Feel your heart swell during the huge, splendid chords in The Great Gate of Kyiv and discover what 'breathtaking' truly means.

Don't miss this wonderful musician and her stunning artistry.

Sparkling Baroque

HANDEL'S WATER MUSIC

This concert, directed by the brilliant Erin Helyard, is a celebration of the spectacular.

Handel's Water Music was an 18th-century show stopper. Commissioned by King George I for a concert on the Thames, all of London turned out to see Handel and his orchestra floating up and down the river on a barge, playing this exciting, lavish music. It's a foot-tapping party on and off stage, and was such a hit the King demanded an immediate encore!

Pisendel's Imitation des caractères de la danse is pure Baroque elegance. In just a few short minutes it captures the spirit of different courtly dances and all their refined elegance. Listen as the musicians of the Sydney Symphony dance and swirl around each other.

This is a rare chance to hear our musicians shine in a smaller orchestra, with each virtuosic line ringing out into the City Recital Hall.

Songs that break silence

EUMERALLA, A WAR REQUIEM FOR PEACE BY DEBORAH CHEETHAM FRAILLON

Eumeralla is a work two thousand generations in the making. When celebrated Yorta Yorta/Yuin soprano-composer Deborah Cheetham Fraillon visited Lake Condah in south-west Victoria, she was haunted by the voices of the Gunditjmara people who had lost their lives protecting their country.

Her immediate response was to write this powerful Requiem, to ease the troubled spirit of the land and to amplify the importance of our shared history.

Experience the colossal sound of Eumeralla in the Sydney Opera House Concert Hall in this milestone Sydney premiere. With a full symphony orchestra and massed choirs – including the voices of Dhungala Children’s Choir – and sung entirely in the ancient dialects of the Gunditjmara people, Cheetham Fraillon has created a musical work that is a compelling call for peace and reconciliation.

‘One day I hope to walk on that country and feel no restless spirit – just the strength of two thousand generations of lives lived and culture sustained.’ – Deborah Cheetham Fraillon

From the heights of paradise

DONALD RUNNICLES CONDUCTS THE DURUFLÉ REQUIEM

Sir Donald Runnicles is a master concert-maker. His concerts are always fascinating combinations – and here he conducts three beautiful French masterpieces by Claude Debussy and Maurice Duruflé.

For the first time, the Sydney Symphony will perform Duruflé’s Requiem. One of the undisputed masterpieces of the choral repertoire, it is exquisitely beautiful, and a poignant reflection on life. Allow your spirit to soar on the delicate vocal harmonies and swelling strings. Donald Runnicles has devoted his life to the idea that music can be a healing, nurturing experience and you couldn’t wish for a better guide for this ethereal, contemplative work.

Two pieces by Debussy complete this program of evocative French music. Just as Monet injected new energy and vitality into French painting, Debussy discovered bold musical gestures and brilliant orchestral colours that made for mesmerising, dream-like experiences.

Australian soprano Anna Dowsley and a female choir star in the sensual and decadent La Damoselle élue, while that same choir transports you from gentle rolling clouds to festivities below and then to the ocean in the stunning Nocturnes. The immutable beauty of nature is drawn out of each note with unmatched nuance and subtlety.

The Roaring Twenties

GEORGE GERSHWIN’S AN AMERICAN IN PARIS

The Roaring Twenties was a time of heady optimism in Paris. Artists and composers of every genre flocked to the city, and this melting pot of influences saw rules broken and every boundary gleefully crossed in pursuit of new and exciting styles of music and art.

That joyous cross-pollination is immediately evident in these works by Gershwin, Stravinsky and Ravel. Gershwin brought the Jazz Age to the concert hall with An American in Paris. From its audacious opening to its explosive tunes, this is music that recreates the lively spirit of Paris, from its dance halls to its streets.

Ravel’s Piano Concerto for the Left Hand features similarly jazzy rhythms, demanding enormous virtuosity from the pianist. In Konstantin Shamray we have one of Australia’s finest, and he brings his ‘rich, colourful palate of sound’ (Limelight) to this extraordinary work.

Stravinsky’s Pulcinella sees the composer looking back to more classical times. His trademark ingenuity shines through in the contrasts of instrumental voices, creating a work that feels both familiar and excitingly new.

Groundbreaking masterworks

SIMONE YOUNG CONDUCTS MOZART’S JUPITER SYMPHONY

Simone Young presents two masterpieces that defined their eras and looked forward to the next.

Mozart’s 41st and final symphony is one of the most enduring of his works. A striking and electrifying symphony, it was nicknamed ‘Jupiter’ by a music publisher who said its opening chords recalled the king of the gods and his thunderbolts. Here Mozart paints on a broader canvas than ever before, perfecting the Classical style and looking forward to the Romantic era.

Carl Philipp Emanuel Bach, son of the immortal Johann Sebastian Bach, was a great composer in his own right, a key figure in the transition from the Baroque to the Classical eras. His Flute Concerto in G is a thrilling ride, and in the hands of our Principal Flute Joshua Batty we hear all of CPE’s invention and daring.

Celebrated for her interpretation of this repertoire, Simone Young takes us back to where it all began in these brilliant foundational works.

SIMONE YOUNG CONDUCTS GURRELIEDER

Term 1, Week 7
Thursday 14 March, 7pm
SCHOENBERG

Arnold Schoenberg's Gurrelieder is a Romantic musical tapestry of monumental scale, requiring an orchestra of 125 musicians and a chorus of more than 200.

In this once in a lifetime event, students will see what it takes to marshal these immense forces, as Chief Conductor Simone Young brings to life this all-encompassing story of love and loss.

TCHAIKOVSKY'S FIFTH SYMPHONY

Term 2, Week 2
Wednesday 8 May, 10am
GLINKA, PROKOFIEV and TCHAIKOVSKY

The working relationship between a conductor and a soloist is always fascinating, and ever-changing. Listen as acclaimed guest conductor Han-Na Chang and the brilliant pianist Behzod Abduraimov work together on Prokofiev's thrilling Piano Concerto No.2

Then hear the Orchestra draw the expressive richness out of Tchaikovsky's masterful Fifth Symphony and Glinka's Overture to Ruslan and Ludmilla.

TCHAIKOVSKY'S FOURTH SYMPHONY

Term 3, Week 2
Friday 2 August, 10am
LIZA LIM, PROKOFIEV and TCHAIKOVSKY

Students will witness the close artistic and personal relationship between conductor Pietari Inkinen and star cellist Alban Gerhardt as they unpack Prokofiev's richly expressive Sinfonia Concertante.

Pietari Inkinen then explores two very different orchestral works: Tchaikovsky's power-packed Fourth Symphony and the world premiere of a work by acclaimed Australian composer Liza Lim.

INGRID FLITER PERFORMS CHOPIN

Term 4, Week 3
Wednesday 30 October, 10am
SCHUMANN, CHOPIN and MENDELSSOHN

Students will be inspired by works by Chopin and Mendelssohn that date from their teenage years.

Chopin was 20 when he wrote his First Piano Concerto, and it glows with the boldness of youth – especially when performed by acclaimed soloist Ingrid Fliter.

Mendelssohn's Third Symphony was inspired by a visit to Scotland when he was 19, and conductor Eduardo Strausser brings out all that exuberance and drama.

BEETHOVEN'S THIRD SYMPHONY

Term 1, Week 8
Wednesday 20 March, 10am
DEBUSSY, RAVEL and BEETHOVEN

With his Third Symphony, Beethoven reimagined the possibilities of the symphony, breaking boundaries with size, scale and emotional content.

Students will watch as Principal Guest Conductor Sir Donald Runnicles works with the Orchestra to create a performance that is bright, bold and triumphant.

THE SYDNEY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA WITH THE AUSTRALIAN STRING QUARTET

Term 2, Week 6
Wednesday 5 June, 10am
RAVEL, JOHN ADAMS and BRAHMS

How do you expand the intimacy of a string quartet to the scale of an orchestra? Find out in this rare opportunity to see the Australian String Quartet join the Sydney Symphony to perform Absolute Jest by American composer John Adams. Then the Orchestra expands chamber jewels by Brahms and Ravel to an oversized canvas, revealing their full richness.

AUGUSTIN HADELICH PERFORMS MENDELSSOHN'S VIOLIN CONCERTO

Term 3, Week 3
Wednesday 7 August, 10am
MENDELSSOHN and BRUCKNER

Be amazed by the brilliance of superstar violinist Augustin Hadelich as he explores Mendelssohn's virtuosic Violin Concerto. Also a teacher at Yale University, Hadelich is the ideal person to unpack this piece.

And hear Chief Conductor Simone Young's celebrated interpretation of Bruckner's Eighth Symphony, as we celebrate the 200th anniversary of his birth.

NGAPA WILLIAM COOPER

STAGES 4-6

A STORY OF COMPASSION

'A work of both outstanding musical quality and extraordinary cultural significance.' (Limelight)

A rich new collaboration between composer Nigel Westlake, singer/songwriter Lior and language activist Lou Bennett, Ngapa William Cooper is a tribute to the life of Yorta Yorta activist William Cooper.

In 1938, Cooper played a pivotal role in establishing equal rights for Aboriginal Australians, and led one of the most striking Australian responses to the events of Kristallnacht in Nazi Germany. This new work is a way of preserving and promoting his legacy and bringing to light this remarkable act of compassion.

Ngapa William Cooper combines Westlake's signature rich musical palette with moving vocals from Lior and Bennett. Sung in English and Yorta Yorta language, this powerful story celebrates a man who left behind a legacy of resistance, solidarity and empathy.

BUILDING CHARACTERS THROUGH MUSIC

Music lets us tell stories without words. Composers use all sorts of wonderful techniques to set the scene, suggest drama and build characters. Exploring ideas from the film music of John Williams as well as the works of other classical composers, we'll unpack how instruments and sound effects are used in wonderful ways to create powerful heroes, diabolical villains and star-crossed lovers. This interactive Schools Concert is all about characters in music and how we bring them to life.

Designed for Stages 1–4, in this narrated concert students will see how every element of music can be used to build story, from rhythm and tempo to melody, dynamic range and tone colour. These building blocks are beautifully illustrated live by the Orchestra.

This concert aligns with the NSW Creative Arts, Music and English Curriculum. These performances at Penrith's Joan Sutherland Performing Arts Centre will leave students with a new understanding of the role of music in storytelling.

MUSICIANS' PLAYLIST OF ORCHESTRAL FAVOURITES

Seeing an orchestra live is absolutely magical. All those musicians right there, perfectly synchronised, while an incredible sound washes over you. And for the first time ever, we are performing at The Pavilion Performing Arts Centre, Sutherland Shire, making it easier for more young students to share this experience.

This is an interactive experience featuring a selection of favourites chosen by the musicians of the Sydney Symphony. What makes this concert so special is that the musicians also talk about their instruments, covering everything from why they love it to notes about tone colour, range and texture. From Dvořák's vibrant Slavonic Dances to the flowing melody of Strauss' Blue Danube, we'll play the music that made our musicians fall in love with their instrument back in the day and sparked their aspirations to become professional orchestral musicians.

This concert aligns with the NSW Music Curriculum for Stages 1–4 and is delivered by the musicians themselves.

SYDNEY SYMPHONY FELLOWSHIP

For over 20 years, we've proudly watched our Sydney Symphony Fellows go on to enjoy highly successful careers in Australia and abroad.

The Fellowship program lays the groundwork through intense preparation and training including masterclasses with globally renowned artists, mentoring by Sydney Symphony's musicians, and the opportunity to play in chamber, mainstage and regional orchestral performances.

Throughout the year-long journey, we support our Fellows through further development of technical skills, insights into career management and preparation for auditions to create sustainable and rewarding careers.
